New Flush Mount Panel System

Working together with Cloud Gehshan, the design firm on this project, L&H Companies fabricated a new flush mount panel system for Tower Health. This system uses a specific milling and cutting method, allowing for the top panel to be fastened with two small screws to hold the panel in place. We use this innovative method to mount the panel flush to face without using any adhesives or permanent connection devices so all mounting fasteners are hidden. The ingenuity about this system is it's easily changeable and allows for the entire front panel to be removed and updated without difficulty to be repurposed for later use. Another significant feature is that updates can be easily changed without error. This product is limitless in design and can be created in almost any size so designers will have the ability to originate a sign system that is truly innovative.
